

Jubilee choral concert at Nantwich

Nantwich's main week of Silver Jubilee celebrations started with a suitable flourish when the choirs of seven local churches joined forces with Nantwich and District Choral Society to present a programme of music with royal associations.

A large audience at Nantwich Parish Church showed their appreciation of the well rounded sound of the massed choruses of 190 voices under the control of the conductor Edward Hewison. They achieved a polish which belied the limited rehearsal time which had been possible.

A special ovation was reserved for the fine organ accompaniment of Michael Bridger.

Church choirs taking part were from Acton, Bunbury, Nantwich, Weston (Crewe), Wistaston and Wrenbury parish churches and Nantwich Central Methodist Church.
