

Choral Society sing Masses

The works of two of the most popular classical composers, Haydn and Mozart are featured in a concert on Saturday (November 11) by Nantwich and District Choral Society at Central Methodist Church, Nantwich.

The main work, Mozart's Requiem Mass, is a powerful and expressive work, contrasting with Haydn's "Theresa" Mass, generally lighter in style, which is also the programme.

The soloists, all of whom sing with the BBC Northern Singers, are Alison Furness, Rachel Payne, Brian Greensill and Neil Phillips. The orchestra will be led by Darrell Wade and the conductor is Edward Hewison. The concert starts at 7.30 p.m.
